Defense

We have been a key supply chain partner to primary Defense OEM's and their sub-contractors since our beginning. Our ability to manage their unique market contracting requirements and product needs has made us a valued partner for decades.

Commercial Aerospace

Managing the product needs and certification requirements of the Commercial Aerospace market is a core competency. Ensuring we have the supporting inventory for both production and the aftermarket, along with meeting the unique requirements demanded by this key industrial market, is what we do.

Energy Storage

Renewable energy systems require advanced energy storage solutions. High voltage contactors from Altran, Rincon and Kilovac, along with industry specific battery interconnect products from Rebling, are key to our support for this market.

eVehicle / eVTOL / eAircraft

The unique products needed for this emerging market require a channel partner who will invest in new products to support engineering design efforts. Post design product support is essential to these young companies and our business model was designed to carry the inventory load while these companies grow.

Specialty Truck / Vehicle

Our broad line of human interface products has been the primary support for this unique industry for decades. The electrification of these specialty trucks requires new high voltage contactors and interconnect products. We have the solutions.

Con-Ag

The evolution of the Con-Ag industry creates a demand for enhanced technologies to provide efficiencies and connectivity. All of this requires additional power and more sophisticated components. This is not your Dad's tractor.
